

Civilisation

Composante
Lettres et langues

Présentation

Description

Responsable du cours : Geoffrey PITCHER

“Representations of African American Identity”

This course will examine what it means to be an African American. By analyzing representations of African American identity over time and in various media, we will focus on diverse and at times conflicting notions and understandings of African American identities in light of the social, cultural and aesthetic histories that have shaped them.

Objectifs

Students can expect to deepen their understanding of American history and culture through various methods including reading, viewing, research and performance.

Heures d'enseignement

Civilisation - TD	TD	18h
-------------------	----	-----